

Tech/equipment report
Richard Mortimer
for
NRRC Meeting 25/September/2023

Conference equipment

- Working fine. Am considering whether we should have a roaming, wireless, microphone for the AGM. I believe Durham ARC have one of these and will investigate whether it is feasible to integrate it into the conference equipment.
- The Zoom subscription is coming up for renewal. It has benefit to NRRC and would propose that we renew for a further year. Cost circa £100 plus whatever inflation price rises Zoom adds.

LDS/Competition Data

- Two new timing tablets purchased, configured and tested ready for the head racing season.
- I have started to look for proper flight case style boxes for the timing kit. So far the venue (big screen) results kit has been packed into a flight case (under £50) but I would propose that we purchase a couple more flight cases to hold most of the remaining timing kit to make it easier to transport and harder to lose items – probably additional cost (£100).
- Have been discussing with Colin how we can better publicise the draw/results/live progress for the LDS series. For reference all information is automatically published via <https://oar-online.uk/> within minutes of the draw/results being confirmed plus live updates during racing. The Oar-Online app in the Google Play Store also carries this data along with live progress information.
- I am still looking for regular access to an Apple laptop/Mac Mini to make live results available on Apple devices for the sculling series and beyond.
